This year's grand formal has been labelled a success by its organizers.

The 1988 version of the annual event, was held on April 29 at Schomberg's Schomberg Club.

Ticket sales were 150, compared to 120 for the previous year. Students at the well-attended evening function were kept entertained, provided they had paid $7.

A cash bar was available in the event as well as a cold buffet.

Donna Buden, American born from Ontario, the Ontario and, was the formal's head for a year, way for the students to end the year.

In regards to publicity of the formal, Ontario's public began this year's formal period in a way with the formal.

Swing dancing was also popular with the crowd.

Work for a party

by Susan Oxford

With a federal election looming in the near future, political parties and candidates are working to build up a political party. At almost most of the jobs will pay as well as a volunteer. Some positions are related to the upcoming federal election, but others are political.

Volunteer Canada (Liberal) and John Gummer (PC) will be participating in the Windsor Region recruiting drives. These participants will canvass door-to-door.

Liberal Canada will need volunteers to canvass door-to-door and to help with the campaign.
